Home Page

First step, I planed for my website pages layout. So I sketched and designed my pages in Balsamiq's wireframe.

Then create a new file for my website called index.html and style.css and utilities.css for my page's style.

Then Create elements in my page layout and try to fill my page with HTML content such as navigation menu at the top and main content section and a footer at the bottom. Add some list of pages for header so when you click on it it can go to that page.

Add a section to specify to an HTML documents. Make buttons and hover over them and make clickable button. Add content and font and images then for linking the pictures and websites I used Href link tag and I gave a class for icons.

Then add some basic CSS layout like colors and background picture and gave margin to top and bottom and divided into different sections by writing notes such as: header, footer and Body,... then for making better look add more some specific styles. At the end I styled my navigation bar for the audience to click and navigate them to a different page.

Use flexbox to create responsive design for my website. Use pseudo-element to style a specific part of an element's content. Make pages suitable for tablet and phone as well.
